

Horace D. Taft Alumni Medal and
Citation of Merit
1981 Recipient

Henry Lea Hillman '37

Taft, Princeton, the Navy, and Harvard prepared you well for corporate leadership. Your vision, your genius, and your drive enabled you to build a small company into a widely diversified enterprise. In the process, you remained a very human leader of men: with a twinkle in your eye, a camera over your shoulder, a tennis racket in hand, and a piano never very far away. Your personal integrity, your genuine concern for people, your modesty, your strong sense of privacy, and your unique sense of place are revealed in your quiet commitment to Pittsburgh, a commitment which has ranged from building a great library at the University of Pittsburgh to the support of struggling community organizations in the city's less fortunate neighborhoods. In sharing your gifts with others you have used both your head and your heart. Taft is proud to honor you today with its Alumni Citation of Merit, for by your deeds you have clearly demonstrated the motto of your school.
